DESTINATION SAINT-QUENTIN

THE ART OF MOVEMENT

Saint-Quentin, City of Art and History, reveals itself through a number of artistic movements. Its Art Deco streets lead to two Gothic landmarks, Picardy's second-largest cathedral and the impressive Hôtel de Ville. This town-hall building takes pride of place on the aptly named Place de l'Hôtel de Ville, a pleasant place to stroll, stop for a drink to the sound of the carillon, and let the children explore this pedestrian area with a small garden. In the centre of the town, a 100-hectare wetland area comprises a national nature reserve and the Parc d'Isle, through which the Somme flows. The park offers observation trails, playgrounds, picnic areas, two animal enclosures and an amusing visitor experience at "la maison du parc". A visit to the butterfly museum is a fun way to round off the tour.

a destination with many landscapes

the Saint-Quentin area is also home to the Oise and Omignon rivers and the sources of the Escaut and Somme rivers. The many ponds and copses contrast with the vast plains of Vermandois, much to the delight of walkers. The landscapes bear witness to human activity. The destination has preserved the memory of these traditional skills.

The Somme rises 10 km upstream from Saint-Quentin

numerous museums

showcase textiles, spinning mills, traditional trades, archaeology, daily life and the great motorcycle brand, Motobécane. Among other rich collections, the Musée des Beaux-Arts exhibits pastels by Saint-Quentin's most famous artist, Maurice-Quentin de La Tour, official portraitist to Louis XV. Henri Matisse's family home evokes the painter's first inspirations, during his youth.

the art of movement

This of course reflects a lively cultural and festive calendar: Fêtes du bouffon (jester's festival), fête de la bière (beer festival), street art festival, grande braderie (street market), Christmas Village, Printemps de l'Art déco (art deco spring), Festival d'Orgue Saint Quentin (Saint Quentin organ festival) and more.

As you can see, you're in an authentic land. Set off to discover it and meet your hosts, in all sincerity.

TOURIST TAX

Tourist tax is a tax paid by visitors to a destination whenever staying in accommodation against payment. It is collected by the accommodation provider, calculated per night and per person (called a room night), on behalf of the Communauté d'Agglomération du Saint-Quentinois, the Communauté de Communes du Val de l'Oise and the Communauté de Communes du Pays du Vermandois. The tourist tax rate is determined by the various local authorities according to the type of accommodation. The collected tax is then used for promotional activities, local events and to improve the quality of hospitality, thereby contributing to the development of tourism in the region.
